From the Desk of Our Pastor ....

Transfiguration

We are presented with two visions in our readings this week that challenge us in at least two ways. First, the visions themselves challenge us to peek out of our own little subjective selves limited by our own experience, thoughts, and sense perceptions, and see the bigger picture of reality beyond us. Second, they challenge us to obedience.

In Daniel's vision we see God, identified as the "Ancient of Days," enthroned upon a divine chariot of fire, with flowing white beard and dazzling white robe. We may consider this vision a divine video impressed on Daniel's mind to communicate realities beyond human comprehension. God does not ride a divine chariot throne of fire, wear clothes, or have a white beard. These features are images used to communicate the power, the purity of God, and His quality of age in time and agelessness beyond time.

If this is not enough to captivate our imagination, we see "One like the Son of Man" approaching the Ancient of Days on the clouds Who, when standing before Him, receives all power. By the imagery of "riding the clouds" and His absolute power, He is God, but by His title "Son of Man," meaning "one of kind with humanity," He is man. We should be in awe, through prayerful imagination, of this vision as Daniel was, breaking wide open our world view.

What we have in the Transfiguration is a vision built upon this vision, but it becomes more concrete in historical reality. Jesus, in the flesh, on a material mountain, is transfigured, revealed as the "Son of Man" of Daniel's vision and pronounced by the Father "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased, listen to Him." In this vision, heaven and earth, the spiritual and the material, are joined together. Jesus is revealed both as Son of God and Son of Man.

What is important for us to grasp here is that the central purpose of the Transfiguration is contained in the Father's words to the Son - Listen to Him! "Listen in the Bible, along with "hearing," means obedience! In awe we must, like His disciples on the mountain, be determined to be as obedient to the Son as the Son is to the Father. Obedience is not a word any of us naturally gravitate towards. The challenge for us is to search our hearts and honestly assess whether we embrace the Father's will as Jesus did in all matters of our lives. Are we truly prepared for this?

Yours in Christ,

Fr. John Worgul
Pastor
