From the Desk of Our Pastor ...

Suffering

There is a significant amount of suffering within our church and parish. Most of it goes unnoticed. Sometimes, though, it just jumps out at us all, losing someone suddenly and often too young, while our older community suffers as they age, sometimes asking why they are still here. Underneath the day-to-day, so many of us are dealing with serious and painful illnesses. And even deeper in the interior of us all is the painful struggle with sin and shame, perhaps the worst suffering of all, even though we might not recognize it as such. Think about how Martha, in the Gospels, is called out by Jesus for her heavy burden of anxiety and anger with her sister.

St. Paul was no stranger to suffering. He speaks of his sufferings in the most curious way. First, he rejoices in them. His suffering “in the flesh,” brought on by his own choice to be obedient to Christ for the sake of the Church, causes him joy! Then he goes on to say “... I complete what is lacking in Christ’s afflictions for the sake of His body, that is, the Church ...” This definitely does not mean Christ’s atoning sufferings are not sufficient and must be made up, so to speak, by our suffering. Christ’s sufferings are categorically different from our sufferings, uniquely atoning for our sins. They are sufficient for us once for all.

There are various interpretations of this famously difficult text, but the one that seems best is the “eschatological” perspective. “Eschatological” means “end times.” St. Paul and the early Church assumed we, the Church, are now living in the period of the “last days,” and Christ and the prophets taught that a definite and limited amount of suffering must be endured by the Church before the end. This explains St. Paul’s joy in his suffering for the Church; the more he suffers in his body the less the Church will have to suffer. Since Jesus is so united with the Church, it can be said that his suffering, as well as all that the Church must suffer in this age, is Christ’s suffering.

We might use the analogy of tears in a bottle. The bottle, like this age, is limited; it can hold only so many tears before it is full. All our sufferings, which we share with Christ, are mingled together, and will soon be filled. This bottle is most precious, and filled with a meaning that will only be revealed at the end of this age. Suffering is temporal; Joy is eternal!

Yours in Christ,
Father John Worgul

The Power of Eucharistic Adoration

We must always have courage, and if some spiritual languor comes upon us, let us run to the feet of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament, and let us place ourselves in the midst of the heavenly perfumes, and we will undoubtedly regain our strength.

St Padre Pio

Adorers are needed on Mondays between 3:00 - 4:00 pm, 5:00 - 6:00 pm and 9:00 - 10:00 pm. On Tuesday, we need between 8:00 - 9:00am, 1:00 - 2:00 pm, 5:00 - 6:00 pm and 9:00 - 10:00 pm. Please contact Jan & Mike Hussle if interested via email at adoration@saintjoseph.cc
